Suffolk Downs Opens Monday

Suffolk Downs will launch its ninth consecutive season of big-time horse racing with the opening, next Monday afternoon, of its 60-day Spring and Summer meeting. And just as aging benefits tobacco and fine wines so is the ninth year of East Boston sport promising the finest racing in the history of the seaside oval.

Already the familiar clip-clop of hoofs of thoroughbreds converges on East Boston from the major racing centers of the land. The Majority of the silken-coated visitors are coming from Maryland, nearly 600 strong; to their number will be added the many hundreds vanning over the road from Narragansett Park, and the comparative few making the jaunt from the Middle West. This fresh racing blood will be a welcome infusion to jaded Yankee racing veins, together with the fine riders who will accompany the ships, many of them newcomers to the local picture.

Demands for stabling space have once again far exceeded the supply. In past seasons this same condition was a natural phenomenon, followed in many cases by regretful cancellations. This year cancellations are as rare as white blackbirds, due in great part to the defection of Delaware Park from the racing scene, as well as to a $100 minimum purse and stake schedule on the Suffolk Downs legends.

Suffolk Downs, ideally and fortunately situated within easy street-car accessibility of all parts of Boston, is giving these stables a profitable racing outlet, and officials confidently anticipate the classiest racing in the history of the Boston sport.

The sport will remain in the same capable hands which have guided it so well in the past. Charles McLennan returns as racing secretary, Robert Frend as starter, while Edwin J. Brown is the only addition to the stewards' stand.

He will support Herman Conkling and William Almy in the supervision of the day-by-day sport.

The members of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., gave a luncheon to their retiring regent, Mrs. R. John Henderson, on Tuesday, May 4, at the New England Peabody Tea Room. Thirty-three members were present and Mrs. Henderson wore a corsage of spring flowers, a gift of the chapter's junior group. The gift from the senior group was a zircon pendant and gold chain.

After the luncheon the annual meeting was held, at which reports were read by chapter officers and committee chairmen. Mrs. Henderson gave an interesting report of her attendance at the D. A. R. Congress, recently held in Cincinnati.

The following officers were elected for a term of one year: Regent, Mrs. Ernest F. Dow; vice-regent, Mrs. Edward D. Fletcher; chaplain, Mrs. Stephen A. Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Sterling G. Thomas; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard E. Pope; treasurer, Mrs. Myron L. Cudworth; registrar, Mrs. Edward W. Egan; historian, Miss Madeline Foster; culture, Mrs. James F. Cooper; auditor, Mrs. Albion H. Brown; director, Mrs. Richard A. Cody; Mrs. R. John Henderson, Mrs. Edward J. Stone; junior directors, Mrs. Loren F. Fletcher, Mrs. Frank G. Voorhies; nominating committee, Mrs. Stephen A. Smith, chairman, Mrs. G. Warren Dillaway, Miss Fannie Hall, Mrs. Charles W. Rowell, Miss Jennie Moody.

—The season ahead looks very successful. Applications are being received in increasing numbers. Many parents seem to feel that there is a special need for a camp experience for their sons this summer. All of the favorite activities present in the camp program in past years will be available. A well rounded program of athletics and aquatics, dramatics, crafts, campfire programs, and other features are being scheduled in preparation for a fine summer.

The camp operates for a nine week season in periods of three weeks each. The opening date is June 30th and the camp closes on Sept. 1st. Many campers register for six or nine weeks. Boys from 8 years of age through high school are eligible for admission. Camp Day is located on the shores of Lake Quaquamquam in the town of Brookfield, 55 miles west of Newton.

A bridal shower was tendered Miss Ann M. Foley of West Newton on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Guerin, 36 William st., West Newton.

tion the board voted to reject the offer made by Hart and it is expected that the building will be razed within a short time.

An order adjudging the barn at 60 Waverley place, Newton, to be dangerous was passed by the Board and it was ordered removed. The owner of the building at a previous meeting had agreed that the structure should be torn down but objected to the expense that would be involved. In answer to the inquiry of Alderman Gibbs as to who would bear the cost of tearing the building down Chairman Henderson, in the name of the Claims and Rules Committee replied that the city would do the work and the cost of it would become a lien on the property.

An offer of Miriam Aronovitz to buy a lot of land in the rear of Irving st., Newton Centre, was accepted after the original offer was changed from $75 to $150. An offer of Sidney R. Williamson to pay $200 for a lot of city-owned land on Southgate Park was rejected. An offer by Hector Priestley of $250 for a lot of land on Jaffrey Circle, Waban, was accepted.

Circus Coming
For Boston Visit

Coming to Boston Garden for its annual Spring visit, the Big Show—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus—will open a two week engagement in the Hub on Monday night, May 17th.

For twelve days thereafter, including Sunday, the circus will exhibit at 2:15 and 8:15 p.m., the final performance being scheduled for Saturday night, May 29th. The Greatest Show on Earth, cooperating with the U. S. Treasury Department, has given the entire seating capacity of Boston Garden for the opening night performance to purchasers of war bonds. At all subsequent performances an honor section totaling 600 seats daily, will be reserved for war bond purchasers bearing Treasury Department requisitions for tickets.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus comes to Boston this season after registering its greatest New York success. Highlighted in its phenomenal run in Manhattan's Madison Square Garden was the largest business in the entire history of the Big Show.

The New York press and public unreservedly termed this year's performance the best ever. "It is the finest circus I ever saw," was the universal comment.

Traveling on its own trains, with ODT's green light beams ahead, the circus will arrive in the Boston and Maine railroad yards Sunday afternoon, May 16 and the 1600 people, 50 elephants, Mr. and Mrs. Gargantua the Great, the wild animals and hundreds of horses and ponies will be unloaded at once.

Preparations will immediately start in Boston Garden for Monday night's gala opening.

Advance tidings have it that Robert, Aubrey and Mrs. Charles Ringling, who are now running the show in person, and who produced the spectacles in this year's performance, have gone all out in assembling a show that the public will long remember. The costumes for the great feature productions, staged by John Murray Anderson are, it is said, far more beautiful than ever before, while many new top-flight acts will add to the exciting appeal of the star-studded program.

The Big Show's five huge and gorgeous spectacles—"Hold Your Horses", "Let Freedom Ring", the Lalage 60-girl Aerial Ballet, "The Changing of the Guard" and "Drums of Victory"—are ready for their Boston debut, as are all the new troupes of aerial, acrobatic, gymnastic and equestrian stars. The outstanding new star is lovely Lalage, Swiss-French high priestess of aerial rhythm who will amaze and delight the crowds in the Garden. The Loyal-Rapier sky family of bareback riding marvels is another new feature attraction, as are Victoria and Torrence, aerial thrillers, and the Reynolds and Donegan Pyramid Skating Girls, a tour de force in speed flights and volts. The famous high wire Wallendas; the Naittos, Chinese wizards of the wire; the Shyretts, acrobats dancing on unicycles, the three world renowned Flying Concello troupe, Dr. H. Ostermaier's famous horse ballet—these are a few of the more outstanding features among the 800 internationally noted artists.

And, back by demand, for the delight of the children of all ages, will be the beloved Clown Fire House with its clanging midget fire engines and trucks and its clamor and clown cops, its ridiculous fire nets and scorched clown leapers.

For the convenience of the public, ticket sales will open Thursday, May 13, at Boston Garden and Filene's.

Waban Man in
New Orleans Visit

The Bureau of New Orleans News of the Association of Commerce reports that Sgt. Lewis E. Day Jr., of 23 Sylvan rd., Waban, has just visited that city. Sgt. Day visited the French Quarters, City Park, Audubon Park, U. S. O. Club and some of the residential district. He says he "met some very nice people who are quite as hospitable as the South is famed for."

Sgt. Day was impressed mostly by the inability to put through a phone call to Boston, the cold weather and the contrast of palm trees and pines or evergreens. When asked what message he would like to have sent to his home town folks he said, "I am still waiting to go back to where I came from, but wish I didn't have to go back. I would rather spend my time in Waban with that certain girl who lives in Newton Highlands. What sure head for New England when this business of war is over. Good luck to you all."

39,300 Pounds Of Tin Collected Here Last Month

The Salvage Division of the War Production Board has notified the Newton Salvage Committee that the car for processed tin cans will be at the Watertown Yard the week of May 17-21.

The Newton Salvage Committee announces that the Street Department will assist them again in this collection and the Street Department will collect more during the week of May 17-21 as follows: Wards 3 and 4 Monday, May 17; Ward 5 Tuesday, May 18; Ward 6 Wednesday, May 19; Wards 1 and 7 Thursday, May 20, and Ward 2, Friday, May 21.

Only processed tin cans should be put out for collection. The Salvage Board has requested that non-processed tin cans be left and not picked up. Non-processed cans are too bulky, and it is essential, due to the scarcity of freight cars, that no more shipping space than is necessary be used.

The Salvage Committee asks you to assist the Street Department in this collection by placing your processed cans along your curb by 7 a. m. on the day of your collection in open containers that are large enough to be seen easily by the men on the truck and to set the containers in the clear so that they are not hidden by trees or your other rubbish barrels should your tin can collection day coincide. Please do not set your processed cans out after the truck has already collected on your street and then request a special collection as this means the expenditure of extra gasoline and tires which are as essential to conserve as tin cans. If your cans are missed the Committee asks you to save them until the following month.

The Salvage Committee announces that during the collection week in April 39,300 pounds of processed tin cans were contributed in Newton.

Federation Holds Annual Meeting

Luncheon preceded the Annual Meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs held on Monday, May 10th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House. Mrs. Alden H. Speare, president, greeted all present with a gracious word of welcome. Following the luncheon, guests at the head table were introduced.

Prominent among these were Mrs. Irving Palmer, Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay and Mrs. Clayton Pearson, all past presidents of the Federation, Miss Elizabeth Bartlett, retiring president, and Mrs. Victor H. Vaughan, incoming president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. On behalf of her club, Mrs. Bartlett expressed pleasure at being able to have the Federation use their club house for the Annual Meeting.

Mrs. Palmer, who was the president during the first World War, spoke briefly of the problems and endeavors of club women during that period. She mentioned especially the interesting work with the foreign born mothers of Newton which was begun at that time and brought such gratifying results.

Mrs. Hay gave an inspiring report on the work of the War Savings Committee which since March 1942 has sold $198,000 in war stamps. Mrs. Hay also reported that instead of $60,000 needed for the purchase of a rescue boat, her committee had raised $277,000 in a period of twenty-one days.

Annual reports were read covering the activities of the several standing committees and of the associate members of the Federation. A recent sale for the Blind resulted in the total amount of $1509.05. The final figure on the Christmas Health Seal sale was reported to be $8054.55. Combined philanthropies of member clubs during the past season showed a total of $5452.40.

To Send Cigarettes To Newton Men Now In Service

Glass jars for contribution are now placed in drug stores, banks, defense factories, theatres, golf clubs and every bright spot in the city of Newton.

"Cigarettes for Service Men" is the slogan for the new undertaking sponsored by the Newton Citizens Committee which starts today. Large glass jars will be placed in the stores of the town bearing a card in red, white and blue, with the following message:

THEY SHALL HAVE SMOKE
One Nickel
Sends One Pack
Send as many as you wish
Won't You Help
Every Nickel dropped in here will buy a package of cigarettes for the boys in the Overseas Service.
Let's give them all the pleasure possible.

Arrangements have been made with Ralph C. Morse who represents one of the large cigarette companies and is a resident of the city of Newton. He is working night and day for the interest of our own boys to secure the cigarettes at five cents per package, tax free in bond. They will be delivered at ports of embarkation and turned over to the Army for distribution to our boys overseas. Instead of the tax stamp, they will be sealed with a small sticker which bears the compliments of the Newton Citizens Committee.

It is hoped that everyone will want to share in this worthy project and that when they do their shopping they will remember to drop a nickel or more to make possible a package of cigarettes for some fellow who is working for us on the battle front. Any contributions can be sent to Roy S. Edwards, Chairman of the Committee, Newton Citizens Committee, City Hall.

Army, spoke on "What You Can Do To Help Win the War." Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, chairman of the Newton War Savings Committee, presented Mr. James B. Riggs, president of the Newton Kwanis Club, who presented the flag from his club. The flag was accepted by Richard Dargan for the School. For the flag raising Robert Farthing of the F. A. Day Junior High School played "To the Colors."

Representative George E. SUNDAY EVENING MUSICALS

A delightful Sunday evening musical was given by Miss Bonnie Summers, pianist and pupil of Miss Lillian West, and Danny Abbott, violinist, student at the All Newton Music School, and pupil of Mrs. Mary L. Scipione, at the home of Mrs. F. B. Summers, 135 Gordon rd., Waban. Bonnie is in the fifth grade at the Anger School and Danny the fifth grade at the Peirce School in West Newton. An added attraction was the well-played solo on the piano by Susie Summers, younger sister of Bonnie.

Large Attendance At Annual Meeting Of The Community Chest

Charles B. Floyd Given Glowing Tribute For Excellent Contribution To Newton's Civic Affairs

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Chest held on Monday evening, May 10th, turned into a grand and glorious reception for Charles B. Floyd, recently appointed 1944 chairman of the Newton United War Fund. Neil Leonard president, paid glowing tribute to Mr. Floyd's personality and the outstanding contribution that he had made in Newton life and said: "If there is one man in Newton who had a right to refuse the chairmanship of the Community Chest Campaign it is Charlie Floyd. As President of the Board of Aldermen, Chairman of the Red Cross War Fund and active in dozens of Newton activities, he is the busiest man in Newton. The Chest needs active men as its leaders and that is why Charlie Floyd was selected for the job. I am happy that Charlie accepted this responsibility because everything Charlie does is successful and that augurs for a successful Campaign in Newton for 1944."

Joseph T. Walker, Jr., General Campaign Chairman of the Greater Boston United War Fund, congratulated Newton on its splendid assistance to the War Fund since the Newton Community Chest has been associated with Boston and expressed great delight that Newton had selected such a worthy leader as his old friend Charlie Floyd to follow such splendid former Chairmen as Maynard Hutchinson, Donald McKay, A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., and William V. M. Fawcett, all of whom were present. Mr. Walker further stated that Newton had provided 6 of the 9 leaders who had been General Chairmen of the Greater Boston Community and War Fund Campaigns, an outstanding record.

Mr. Stuart Rand, former Newtonite and General Chairman in Greater Boston for 1939 paid tribute to Charlie Floyd in the address of the evening. He asked that former leaders and workers, agency board members, executives of the Chest and citizens at large get behind the next Campaign and give the new Chairman the support that is due him. Mr. Floyd in a brief speech acknowledged the many tributes paid to him, which he claimed were entirely undeserved and promised the Directors, delegates and guests that he will put his whole heart and strength toward making the 1944 campaign a success. He further commented that the job could be done only with full cooperation of the citizens of Newton and he asked for their continued loyal support.

Announcement was made at the meeting that the next Greater Boston United War Fund campaign would be held November 8th to 24th this year, this being two and a half months earlier than recent Greater Boston United War Fund drives. It was stated that a National War Fund had been organized and practically all money raising activities for local social agencies and allied wartime organizations, including USO and United Nations Relief, would be held all over the country in the Fall, leaving the spring months available for the Annual Red Cross Campaign. An opinion was expressed that the change would meet general approval, particularly in Newton, as the Newton Community Chest drives prior to 1941 were held yearly in November.

Music during the evening was presented by the Trio from the All Newton Music School consisting of: Martha Cleary, Doris Doehler and Evelyn Hicks. Neil Leonard paid tribute to the Music School and the Trio saying that they had been a distinct asset to Chest, Council and Agency meetings for many years. He felt it was high time their fine volunteer service was recognized. Approximately the 150 in attendance heard brief reports from Neil Leonard, president; Clark E. Woodward, chairman, Budget Committee; Robert H. Loomis, treasurer; H. J. Pettengill, executive director. In addition to former Presidents and Directors previously mentioned who were present, there were: Wm. B. Plumer, chairman, Newton Community Council, Thomas E. Shirley; Mrs. Edgar Burkhardt; Vincent Stanley; Charles C. Dasey, 1943 Division Campaign Chairman, John M. Bieker, Past Treasurer, Benjamin Bowen, Past Budget Committee Chairman; L. A. Bruce, Past Executive Director, Merritt Hewitt and Brooks Potter, 1944 and 1943 Boston Metropolitan Chairmen, respectively. Also present representing the Greater Boston United War Fund, were: Elmer Pillsbury, Assistant Campaign Director, Bradford Eddy, Metropolitan Division Executive Secretary; Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary, Greater Boston Central Budget Committee; John T. Clark, Staff Secretary. Names of officers and directors elected are as follows: President, Neil Leonard; Vice Presidents, Most Rev. R. J. Cushing, Miss Mabel T. Eager; Treasurer, Robert H. Loomis; Clerk, John H. Underhill, Directors: William H. Cahill, Mrs. Roberts.

The Newton Zonta Club held its annual business meeting Monday evening, May 10th, at the home of Mrs. L. Maud Stevens; Alice May Doxey, retiring 1st vice president; and Bertha Putney Dudley, chairman of Publicity.

Nomination of officers for the ensuing year constituted the major part of the program. Mrs. Della Stanley, retiring president, deserves much credit for her untiring efforts during the past two years to make the club aware of its obligations as a Service Club.

Representative Leslie B. Cutler of the General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will give a picture of "A Day in the House." The Boston Symphony Orchestra's Willem Valkenier will play his marvelous French Horn, Alice Allen Melville of the Boston Club is to be the piano soloist, together with Mary Livermore Barrows. The evening promises to be of universal interest.

NEWTON LIONS CLUB

John W. Tapper, one of the local Lions who is also President of the Boston Piano Tuners' Association, gave an educational and interesting talk on the history of the piano, and of the problems of its manufacture.

The piano, he said, traces its development from the earliest savages to the thence dulcimer, harpsichord, spinet, clavichord, the old square piano in 1711 and finally the piano of today, a modern adaptation of the first upright built in this country in 1775.

Lion Tapper showed an assortment of some of the parts, woods and fabrics which go into the building of the popular instrument which contains more than 2000 parts. The various items that go into its construction come from the forest, farms and mines of almost every section of our Nation and from many foreign countries. Expert craftsmanship and careful selection of materials together with specialized engineering knowledge fashion the many items into the different types of pianos, but, said Mr. Tapper, it is the keen ear and exact touch of the piano tuner which finally produces the pleasing tone.

Edward J. Day of Auburndale was installed Secretary-Treasurer by President Sanguinetti, after which, Dr. Charles M. Hall, the retiring Secretary, was presented a smoking stand by Dave Buxbaum, 1st Vice President of the Club. The gift from the members, was in appreciation of the loyalty and fidelity of "Charlie" who has made an excellent officer.

Asa Blakeslee, Chairman of the Finance Committee, gave a report and offered some suggestions, one of which "landed" him an extra assignment about which all Lions will soon know.

This WEEK, This WORLD

—by Ted Friend—

WHY DID John L. Lewis agree to a truce, which in effect merely re-submitted the original issues to the same agencies which were available prior to the strike threat, after committing the United Mine Workers to a definite and provocative line of direct action?

It was not out of regard for President Roosevelt that Lewis retraced his steps. Lewis' hatred of the President is as undisguised as it is pathological. It was not out of loyalty to the country because in that event the strike would never have been called in the first place. It was not a concession to public opinion because Lewis has never cared about public opinion one way or another. It was not dread of bloodshed because the government had announced its intention of not employing force against the miners and in any case, Lewis had never previously had any squeamish feeling in that respect.

Lewis' reversal, therefore, may be judged to have been due to one and/or two causes. First, that he had achieved his objective of showing his national labor importance by giving the country a major wartime crisis involving the nation's chief executive no less. Such a cynical achievement would, concededly, have been extremely useful to him in his own labor union circles. Second, that having set the machinery of revolt in motion and having watched the Presidential reaction to it, he decided that the President, who was not so preoccupied with war problems as to be able to out-think, out-manuever and out-fight him.

What weapon, aside from the weapon of prestige, did the President have in the event that Lewis had decided to make the strike action stick? In spite of the President's restraint in the handling of the strike he was far from without the means of breaking the strike within a week, without the shedding of a single drop of blood, if he needed to do so had arisen.

Strikes are carried on, fought and won with funds—with weekly benefits to struck workers—and strike benefits come from only one source, from union treasuries.

It would have been a simple matter for the President, acting under wartime emergency, to impose the funds of the United Mine Workers. Such action would have knocked out the bottom of the strike and would have left Lewis and his associates stranded and discredited.

It is a tribute to President Roosevelt, to his political generalship as well as his deep concern for the working man, that he patiently permitted the United Mine Workers' leadership to save its face, and in doing so enabled the union to save its neck, though he might have smashed both with the stroke of a pen if he had so chosen.

QUOTE - OF - THE - MONTH CLUB: "To be a Jew is to belong to an old, harmless race that has lived in every country in the world; that has enriched every country it has lived in."

"It is to be strong with a strength that has outlived persecutions. It is to be wise against ignorance, honest against piracy, harmless against evil, industrious against idleness, kind against cruelty! It is to belong to a race that has given Europe its religion, its moral law, and much of its science—perhaps even more of its genius—in art, literature and music."

"This is to be a Jew; and you know now what I required of you. You have no country but the world; and you inherit nothing but wisdom and brotherhood. I do not say that there are no bad Jews—usurers, cowards; corrupt and unjust persons—but such people are also to be found among Christians. I only say to you this is to be a good Jew. Every Jew in his own mind brought before him this aim. He refuses it at his peril; and at his peril he accepts it." Bottom "The Mortal Storm."

The Committee on Fuel and Street Lights of the City Council will recommend that a contract be made with the Newton Electric Light and Power Company, for the lighting of all the streets of the city. They have looked over the matter thoroughly and are satisfied that the work can be done by the company to the entire satisfaction of the citizens.

The great crowd of cyclists upon the streets every pleasant evening shows how popular the sport has become, but only a few take the precaution to light their lamps and only extraordinary good luck prevents accidents, as the cyclists are out till long after dark and Newton's streets have many dark places.

A total of 7996 subscribers, or one in practically every family in this city is the record the Newton has made in the Third Liberty Loan campaign. The total amount subscribed here according to the latest returns which are not complete, will run well up to five million dollars, or nearly if not quite "twice over the top."

Make Press Tour Of Big Arsenal

A representative of the GRAPHIC and representatives of other newspapers were guests of the War Department in a Press tour of the Watertown Arsenal. The newspaper men were taken behind the scenes, as few have, and were amazed at what they saw.

At the outbreak of the war the personnel of the Arsenal was increased 90 per cent. Today there are about 9,000 workers one fourth of them women, who are doing remarkable work operating huge cranes, foundry kilns and all types of machinery and tools. The men admit that the 125 women crane operators are pretty good, although they used to duck when the women first began swinging huge steel beams over their heads. The arsenal foundry, where guns are cast, is a miniature inferno where workers calmly operate the furnaces amid belching smoke and flame and the thunder of machinery. It is estimated that women will comprise 50 per cent of the personnel before the end of this year.

Arsenal laboratories are constantly testing stresses and studying steel erosion. One hydraulic testing machine has seen 64 years of service, through four wars, and performs 15,000 tests per month. The Arsenal is spread over 100 acres, and last year turned out a total production valued at $30,000,000.

Washington—According to the Board of Economic Warfare, the Nazis, up to the end of 1941, looted occupied Europe of no less than $36,000,000,000, and are now looting at the rate of ten billions of dollars a year. A dispatch dated April 15, from the Berlin newspaper, Het Vaderland, reports that a hundred and fifty pictures by Dutch and Flemish masters were auctioned in the German capital during the month of February. They included works by Tenier, Breighel, Niclaes Maes, Ferdinand Bol, Wouwerman and Van Mieris. Most of the paintings came from private collections and were bought for "private collections."

These masterpieces were "purchased" and paid for in marks through the Netherlands Bank. Thus the Netherlands became actually paid for them from funds assessed by the Germans for various costs of occupation, or taken as forced loans.

Museums, too, have been compelled to "lend" many valuable paintings as decorations for the offices of various German officials. The Franz Hals Museum in Haarlem was obliged to put a number of pictures on "loan" in German offices established in the Cafe Brinkman and the Hotel De Hout in that city.

Not only have the Germans seized everything they could move but they have likewise seized everything they could not move by simply taking title to the property.

But even that is only part of the tale. Some 300,000,000 Europeans are today either compelled to slave for their Nazi masters or starve. And even those who work are often near starvation. A Dutch journalist lately escaped from Occupied Holland revealed that prices of the necessities of life in his country have risen so high that only the well-to-do "collaborationists" can afford to obtain adequate food. He tells us that he had paid as much as 25 guilders (almost $14) for 50 English cigarettes or 50 guilders (about $27) for a pound of real tobacco. He had been asked to pay 300 guilders (about $150) for a bicycle tire, five guilders (almost $3) for a toothbrush and three guilders (over $1.50) for a small piece of soap.

The cheapest women's dresses in Holland now sell for $54. A special coupon for a sizeable number of ration coupons, are required to purchase even these. A simple black dress in an Amsterdam window was priced at $170; the price of a Persian lamb coat was listed at $658, and a very simple scarf was priced at $5.

Attila was a piker by comparison with the modern "kultured" German. For the master race has developed looting to a science and an art. One field in which has completed his "boot" training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station at Highland Park, Ill., and will be assigned to a Navy signal school for further training. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Davis. He is a graduate of the Newton High School and was employed by the Sherman Paper Products Corp. before entering the service.

Henry Allen Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Patrick of 30 Thornton st., Newton, has been promoted to the grade of Corporal in the 370th Technical School Squadron, Scott Field, Ill., parent radio school of the AAF Technical Training Command.

Leonard Morris Nodell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Nodell of 22 Holland st., Newton, has enrolled in a 16 weeks' course for machinists at the Navy trade school on the campus of the University of Minnesota. Upon graduation he will be eligible for promotion to a petty officer rating.

Ernest L. Toombs, son of Mrs. Jean O. Toombs of 103 Newtonville ave., Newton, has been promoted from Second Lieutenant to First Lieutenant at the Army Air Base, Granada, Miss. He is a graduate of the Newton High School and attended Boston University. He was graduated from the Army Air Force Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla., on Dec. 9, as a Second Lieutenant, and is assistant Intelligence Officer for the Army Air Base.

Frederick A. Hall, 21, torpedoman, son of Mrs. M. Hall, 337 Washington st., Newton, has completed basic training at the Submarine School, Submarine Base, New London, Conn., for duty with our growing fleet of undersea fighters. Hall was a graduate of Newton High, lettered in track and captain of the team in 1940. He belonged to the Sigma Phi fraternity. How to build your home of tomorrow today

A home of your own.

Are you dreaming of one, too? A recent survey revealed that that is what more than a million American families want.

But like you, they'll have to wait.

There's a war to be won first. Did you know it takes as much lumber to crate a bomber as is needed for a five-room house?

However, you can start building that home of tomorrow today — and help to build a better world, too — by putting every dollar you can spare into War Bonds and your savings account... The suggestion is as practical as it is patriotic.

The luncheon is in charge of Mrs. Norman Needy, Mrs. Louis Aronson and Mrs. Edmund Miller. Reservations may be made up to noon Monday, May 17, by calling BIG 6050. Mrs. George R. HUNNEWELL CLUB

The annual meeting of the Hunnewell Club was held on Monday evening, May 10th, at which the following officers for the coming year were elected: Carlos T. Pierce, president; vice president, Edwin P. Leonard, Jr.; secretary, Leo E. Davidson; and treasurer, Harry L. Dexter. Elected to the Board of Directors for a term of two years were Alban F. Rosene, Kenneth B. Osborn, G. Whitney Hubbard and Raymond M. Swain and for a term of one year Sterling N. Loveland.

The various committees reported a successful year of operation. Much credit is to be given for the members of these committees for their work under the conditions of the past year. The problems of gas rationing, food shortages, occasional absenteeism of the pin-boys, etc., have required extra efforts by the committees and the cooperation of the club members. However, the committees are grateful that the Hunnewell Club is a truly community affair and feel sure that another successful year lies ahead.

The entertainment committee has run several very well attended dances during the past year and the family parties on Saturday nights have become popular with all. Orchids to the co-chairmen Joneses, Henry and M'lie.

Bowling, that always popular winter recreation, has lived up to its reputation by providing relaxation, fun and competition for a large number of the members. All tournament matches will be completed shortly and then that very able chairman Reg Caverly can do some announcing of the "WIN-NAHS."

The semi-monthly bridge parties are now a well established part of the club activities under the guidance of Al Rosene. A duplicate contract tournament is planned for some night a couple of weeks hence and if you haven't signed up—hurry, hurry. The next semi-monthly bridge is a date for next Wednesday, May 19th.

A good old-fashioned cribbage tournament is now in progress—competition is keen.

In closing, the Club wishes to express publicly their appreciation for the leadership and unceasing efforts of their retiring president, Clarence C. Colby. Through his endeavors the clubhouse has become a center of community life in the use of its facilities by various local organizations such as churches, civic defense, and entertainment of service men.

Com. Hudson Tells Of Surgery While At Sea

Commander Henry W. Hudson, U. S. N. R., who recently returned from a foreign service, spent a few days last week at his home, 1672 Beacon st., Waban. He is now at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, where he will make a study of plastic surgery.

Commander Hudson who is 42, and a graduate of the Harvard Medical School, was a member of the staff of the Children's Hospital since 1927. After joining the Navy he served as a member of the staff of the medical director of the First Naval District until March, 1941, when he became a member of the staff of the Chelsea Naval Hospital serving until he went to sea in July of last year. He has spent ten months as chief medical officer on board ship in both the Pacific and Mediterranean where he served under fire.

In speaking of surgery aboard ship, Commander Hudson stated that it is difficult work at its best and can be facilitated by the operation of the commanding officer of the vessel. In rough seas it is sometimes necessary to change the course of a ship before performing an operation, and in this respect the captain of his ship was always ready to cooperate to the fullest extent possible, and showed a fatherly interest in those ill or wounded by visiting them often and keeping posted on their condition.

Commander Hudson's staff aboard ship consisted of a young physician, a dentist and 16 hospital corps men or pharmacist's mates.

A seven and three-quarter pound baby boy was born to Staff Sergeant and Mrs. William H. Pescosolido on May 12 at the Richardson House.

The father, better known to his Newton friends as "Bill" or "Pescy," a former popular athlete of Newton High School and Deerfield Academy, is now serving with the American Air Force in England. He has been recently awarded the Airmen's Medal for combat flying over France and Germany and in the East African campaign with Col. Timberlake's squadron which has become known as "Ted's Flying Circus" because of the numerous campaigns in which they have taken part in their B-24 Liberator Bombers. This was one of the first American squadrons to go to England and took part in the original Lille, France, raids.

Mrs. Pescosolido was formerly Miss "Betty" Keesler of Newton Centre and Hancock, New Hampshire, who attended Newton High School and Ashley Hall, South Carolina.

Report Progress In Camp Work

The Newton Y. M. C. A. reports progress in the preparation of its summer camp, Camp Frank A. Day, in Brookfield, for the coming season. Camp Director Samuel H. Johnson was at camp over the past week and making arrangements for repairs and improvements to be made during the next few weeks. All sailboats, rowboats and canoes are being put in first class shape and repair work is being done on the platforms and some refreshments are being added to the camp hospital.

Program plans are also taking shape and needs and interests of the two hundred and fifty boys who will be served at camp this summer are being taken into account as plans are made. Mr. Sydney Roberts, director of crafts, was in Newton recently for a conference regarding the crafts and maintenance program. New projects are being worked out which will be available this summer. Tennis enthusiasts will find that in spite of war time conditions and priorities, Camp Day has secured two new tennis nets. An improvement is also noted in the weekly moving picture schedule which is already arranged. First run sound pictures have been secured, all of them well known titles of interest to boys.

Registrations are still open and are being received at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Camp opens on June 30th and operates for a nine-week season, closing September 1. Boys may attend, however, for three or six week periods. Parents wishing to have their children registered are being urged to register their sons at once before registration closes.

Camp Frank A. Day has been well known for years to the residents of the Newtons. It is located on beautiful Lake Quacumasset near the town of Brookfield. The name Quacumasset comes from the Indian meaning "home of the great white goose." Chief Wickabong and his Indian braves used to hold their council meetings on the point now occupied by the camp, and the surrounding country was one of the favorite Indian hunting grounds.

Police Sergeants Now At Maximum

Mayor Paul M. Goddard and Chief of Police Michael T. Hughes have ruled that the number of sergeants in the Newton Police force is now at the maximum permitted by the city ordinance. Therefore, the vacancy caused by the death of the late Sgt. Daniel J. Cleary is not to be filled.

The ten sergeants now serving in the department are: Richard L. Bannon, Patrick J. King, and Philip Purcell, of the Inspector's Office; Thomas J. Burke, of the Traffic Bureau; and the following street sergeants: Thomas F. Lee, Bernard A. Meehan, Andrew E. Moran, John H. Sheridan, Michael J. Sullivan, Charles E. Walker and Bartlett Cullen.

Report Shows $662,000 Cut In City Debt

City Treasurer C. C. Colby Presents Clear and Concise Statement Covering All Phases of City's Financial Set-up

In an attractive volume containing a complete picture of the city's finances in a form which may be easily understood by the layman, Clarence C. Colby, city treasurer and collector, yesterday issued his first annual report.

The cover features a photograph of City Hall and in the booklet is a full-page photo of Francis Newhall, Colby's predecessor, who retired on Feb. 9, 1942.

The statistics are presented in easily readable form and much of the data is illustrated by graphs to make the facts stand out more clearly.

Debt Reduction
After giving a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures and the balance sheet, the report reveals under the heading "Reduction of Funded Debt," that $662,000 in bonds were paid off last year, reducing the debt from $5,539,000 to $4,877,000.

The bonds retired during the year were: School, $176,000; Sewer, $139,000; Street improvement, $111,000; Water, $80,000; School, Fire Alarm Headquarters and Fire Station, $21,000; City Hall, $33,000; Emergency Storm Damage, $20,000; County Sanatorium, $20,000; County Sanatorium Addition, $6,000; Municipal Relief, $15,000; Incinerator, $13,000; Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Memorial, $10,000; Police Station Building, $6,000; Crafts Street Garage Addition, $5,000; Land, City Hall Site, $4,000; Public Library, Newtonville, $3,000.

Graphs Show Trend

On the two succeeding pages are graphs, one showing the funded debt "by purposes," and the other "by years." The greatest part of the debt is due to sewer extensions, and the next in size is "school building loans." Next come water works development, traffic ways, fire alarm headquarters, city hall building, county sanatorium, soldiers, sailors, etc., memorial; public welfare, police headquarters, public library, Newtonville; County Sanatorium addition, incinerator building, city hall land, hurricane damage, and city garage.

The graph "by years" shows that the entire debt will be paid off by 1970 unless more bonds are issued in the meantime.

Tax Titles Analyzed

The subject of tax titles held by the city is set forth in complete fashion, so that the reader can tell at a glance the location of the parcels as to wards and precincts, the number of parcels in each ward and precinct, the amount of property acquired by foreclosure, and the location of the property acquired by foreclosure.

The amount of property foreclosed in 1942 was $7,313.68. At the end of the year the property held totaled $55,081.19 in value. The total amount of tax titles held by the city at the end of the year was $161,453.72 compared with $177,122.87 at the opening of the year.

In an analysis of deferred and uncollected accounts, the treasurer revealed that the following sums were outstanding at the end of 1942: Sewer and betterments, $297,140.24; Taxes, 1942, $528,276.56; Taxes prior to 1942, $1,789.36; Tax Titles, $161,453.72; Foreclosed Property, $55,081.19; Water Liens, $13,231.86, and Departmental Bills, $73,521.31.

Tax Collection

In the statement of collection of real estate tax assessments and liens, the amount remaining at the end of the year was $521,603.64 for the current year, and the amount for 1941 was $163.40. The collection of personal tax for the year was $433,117.40, besides $6,482 in abatements. The poll tax collection was $39,764, and the abatements totaled $5,018. The uncollected balance due on personal taxes was $19,586.60, and on poll tax $1,542.

The collection of bills due on 1941 taxes was so complete last year that the balance due at the end of 1942 was only $160.66 for real estate, $609.85 for personal property, and $84 for poll taxes.

Table of Contents

For the convenience of the reader, a table of contents was included in the report. The following letter to the mayor and the Board of Aldermen from Mr. Colby was incorporated in the report. "I am submitting to you herewith my first annual report. You will find therein not only statements of condition at the end of the year, but also information indicating what has happened during the period."

"I have attempted to present the facts in a manner usable and easily understood and to establish a method by means of which the comparison with succeeding reports might be made more enlightening."

"The report is divided into three parts and a table of contents is inserted to make it more readable."

"It is my hope that the information furnished will aid in a better understanding of the work of this department."

To Hold Lower Falls Bird Trip

The Massachusetts Audubon Society has arranged through its membership for a number of local bird trips throughout the State on the morning of May 22. At this time bird migration is at its height and groups may find from 75 to 100 species of birds in almost any section of Massachusetts.

The Newton Lower Falls trip will start from Washington and Quinobeguin, under the leadership of Mrs. C. L. Hawthaway. All who are interested in observing birds are invited to join this trip, whether or not they are members of the Massachusetts Audubon Society. The starting time is 8 o'clock in the morning, and those taking the trip may continue until noon or later, or they may drop out whenever they choose.

A complete record of the birds seen will be kept by the leaders and sent to the Audubon Society for their records.

SECOND VICTORY GARDEN MEETING IS HELD HERE

The Second Victory Garden Meeting for Newton Corner Village was held May 12 and addressed by Prof. Alden B. Tuttle of Mass. Agricultural College of Amherst. A very interesting and instructive Question and Answer Session was held dealing with Planting, Fertilizing and Pest Control. Small group gatherings of friends and neighbors for the purpose of comparing notes has proven most helpful.

Grant Petition To Change Land

The Newton Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday evening voted to grant the petition of the Purty Ice Company to change the land which was the site of the old ice house on Crystal Lake, to the general residence zone, after City Solicitor Bartlett ruled that the change would not be "spot zoning."

Alderman Henderson Inches, chairman of the claims and rules committee, read the city Solicitor's ruling, and declared that the company had petitioned for this change in zoning for the benefit of the community and that the Newton Centre and Newton Highlands Improvement Associations were both in favor of it.

This land located between Norwood ave. and Crystal Lake and bounded by Norwood ave., Centre st., of the Boston & Albany Railroad, Crystal Lake and land now or formerly of E. Louise Berke, has been the subject of considerable controversy over a period of years.

The board also voted to make Sumner st., Newton Centre, a one-way street from Willow st. to Beacon st., and to effect the following changes which had been recommended by the police traffic bureau:

Amendment to traffic regulations making Lyman st. a one-way street, from Centre st. to Sumner st. This will necessitate changing the direction of the arrows on Lyman st., as that street is now one-way in the other direction.

Amendment permitting restricted parking on both sides of Sumner st., between Willow and Beacon sts.

Amendment authorizing "Stop" signs on Everett st. and on Lyman st., at Sumner st.

The board voted to make Carleton st., Ward 7 a one-way street from Pearl st. to Centre st. On a proposal to make Brook st., Ward 7, a one-way street from Washington st. to Elmwood st. the board voted "no" after Chairman George A. Bacon of the traffic committee reported that the committee recommended no action.

The following appropriations were made by the Board:

$750 for a temporary clerk for the Street Department; $100 for the expenses of Chief John L. Keating of the Fire Department to attend a convention to be held at the State House in Boston; purchase of a new refrigerator unit for the ice box at the City Infirmary; $35 of the income from the Davenport Trust Fund for the care of the Davenport lot in the Winchester Street cemetery; $600 for clerical assistance for the Treasury Department. Patrolman Richard Bagley was reimbursed to the extent of $5 for an injury to one of his feet caused by the fall of a heavy iron object in the Main library when he went inside the building to inspect it after finding the door unlocked. Patrolman William Walsh was granted $10 for an injury received when a police car rolled over one of his feet.

Payment of $1,320.72 by the City Clerk's Department to John Miskella out of the Workmen's Compensation account was authorized, also the payment to him of $20 a week from May 3 for an indefinite period. This settlement was ordered by the State industrial accident Board after Miskella, an employee of the street department, who was injured in a fall while working on snow removal, had appealed from a decision of City officials denying his claim for Workmen's Compensation.

The board also authorized the sale of a trailer to Frank Generazzo for $350.

Vice-President Joseph B. Jamieson presided in the absence of President Charles B. Floyd.

New Equipment For X-Ray, Therapy Work At Newton Hospital

Brings To Community Most Modern Facilities For This Type of Work; To Be Featured On Hospital Day

As a feature of National Hospital Day, May 12, Newton Hospital announces installation of completely new and modern equipment.

This is particularly valuable in taking X-ray pictures of the skull, sinuses where a longer exposure time is ordinarily necessary.

ment in Radiographic and X-Ray Therapy Department incorporating all the latest scientific advances in equipment of this nature. This equipment brings to Newton the most modern facilities for X-ray and therapy work.

One of the new units is a Deep Therapy unit which provides the best treatment for malignant conditions or skin diseases. This new unit produces deeper penetration of the X-rays than with older therapy units.

A high power 500 milliamper, Westinghouse radiographic unit has been installed which enables X-ray pictures to be taken with as little as 1-60th seconds exposure.

The Newtonville Library . . . Past, Present and Future

B. ROBERT V. SPENCER

Foreword

The following article consists of historical facts and opinions. The facts are either taken from my own personal knowledge or from material secured for me by Miss Frost of the main Newton library and by Miss Peters of the Newtonville Branch Library. The opinions are personal and in no way attempt to reflect those of others.

R. V. S.

Were it possible for mortals to know ultimate truth, and could we revert in our thinking to the days of ancient mythology, it might be discovered that the recently dedicated Newtonville public library building graces Walnut st. as a result of the intervention of the gods. This brief story will show how the Fates may have despaired of proper housing ever being provided for library service to this community of 12,000 souls, and have thrown the problem into the lap of the gods who dealt kindly with the people.

Going back over the records for more than a hundred years, there is nothing to indicate that the people of Newtonville have not been as appreciative of good literature as have the residents of the other villages of Newton, but the community seems to have lacked the initiative, vision and leadership, until recent times, for the promotion of the cultural interests of the village in any persistent and effective organized way. As far back as 1826, Newton Centre had its Adelphean library, Newton its Book Club, started in 1848 and its Library Association organized in 1856, and there was a library in West Newton Parish as early as 1798. In contrast, we learn nothing about library work in Newtonville until 1886 when the newly incorporated Newton Free Library established a book distributing agency there.

"Tim" Shannon, who retired as library chauffeur in 1938, started delivering books with a livery outfit to village agencies and direct to homes in 1889. Tim says that in those days teachers were provided with covered baskets in which they carried the books back and forth between their schools and the agencies. The Newtonville agency was held by Albert H. Sisson's drug store and coal office, located at the present site of the Christian Science Reading Room on Walnut st. Nearly all the adult circulation in those days was by request from the published catalogues. The local book distribution was handled by Sisson's agency, where the books were stored under the counter. In establishing new village libraries the Newton board of library trustees adhered to the policy of opening no new branches unless the local community manifested sufficient interest in the project to raise $1000 for providing the necessary equipment and for meeting other initial expenses. In 1902, $250 was raised among the people of Newtonville toward the amount necessary. There the matter rested for four years, when the Newtonville Improvement Association appointed a special committee to raise the balance required to complete the fund. This committee solicited subscriptions from the people of the community and the remaining $750 was secured and the Newtonville Branch Library was opened in the second story of the Masonic Building October first, 1906.

The Library occupied those second story rooms until 1925, when it was moved to the first floor level of the same building on Walnut st. It occupied those unattractive but very accessible rooms until 1936, when it was crowded out by business and was moved to the second story Orr Hall. Here the floor space and lighting were excellent, but the long stair climb served as a constant reminder that library housing would never be right until a special building was provided.

In spite of all handicaps and delayed community support, with the exception of the three Orr Hall years, Newtonville has led all other branch libraries of the city in circulation since the start of the local agency in 1886. Within a brief period after this date the circulation had risen to over 11,000 a year, near which volume it stabilized until the local branch was opened twenty years later. In 1906, the first year of branch operation, localized service was justified by an increase in circulation to 23,360. The last year of second-story location, the circulation had climbed to 54,891. The year of moving to the street level, it was 61,684, and reached an all-time high in 1934 of 104,536. Following this peak, when people began to find jobs again, it dropped somewhat and the moderate decline was continued when the library was moved to its second-story quarters. It is interesting to know that November, 1939, the first full month the library occupied its own building, circulation jumped 2,700 ahead of the previous November to a total of 10,449 and Newtonville again became the busiest branch in the city.

The above skeleton of library circulation, covering fifty-three years of Newtonville experience, seems to show two things conclusively: accessibility had been a dominant factor in determining library circulation and that Newtonville people are above the average consumers of good literature.

Space does not permit an adequate statement of appreciation of the part the Newtonville librarians have played in this phenomenal development during the past thirty-three years. The women who have successfully held this position of community importance and responsibility have not been mere clerks whose chief business has been to record laboriously minute statistical records accurately. They have been conscientious readers and students' assistants and teachers of good literature. They have made the Newtonville Library a friendly place for all to go for books, regardless of whether it was located in a vacant store or in a second-story hall. Miss Carrie L. Williams was appointed the first branch librarian in 1906. Mildred Chase followed her in 1910 and Maud Thompson took charge in 1917. Miss Alexina Burgess became librarian in 1920 and served until the present librarian, Miss Dorothy C. Peters, took charge in 1925. Miss Burgess is now chief librarian at Suffield, Connecticut. The Newtonville library was not wholly without organized community attention until 1936, as already indicated. When the rooms were moved to the first floor of the Masonic Building, the Newtonville Improvement Association made an appropriation to cover the cost of the lighting fixtures and the Newtonville Woman's Club donated the dictionary stand. An even more important indication of growing interest was an abortive attempt by the Improvement Association to start a campaign for a community building for Newtonville which, in addition to housing the library, would have provided a large auditorium and other community rooms. This movement, started soon after World War I, was soon abandoned because of lack of promised financial support.

Going back again to the dawn of the century, the Newtonville library was the sixth branch established in the city, those at West Newton, Auburndale, Newton Centre, Upper Falls and Nonantum having preceded it in the order named. In 1936 when the movement was started which finally succeeded in bringing about the erection of the new building, citizens of the village had come to realize that a paradoxical situation existed. Four other good branch library buildings had already been erected in the city by private funds; West Newton Library, built in 1925; Newton Centre and Auburndale buildings, erected in 1927, and the Waban Library built in 1930. In the face of all these handicaps, Newtonville had been leading the branches of the city in the amount of service rendered to the respective communities.

At this time of improving business conditions the Newtonville Improvement Association concluded that the time had arrived for action. It was decided to promote a new agency to carry out the project. The organization was formed and incorporated as the Newtonville Library Association with George Whitfield Taylor as president, Margaret McGill as vice-president, Mrs. Ernest P. Railsback as secretary and Adam Haug as treasurer. A campaign committee was then formed under the chairmanship of Albert M. Lyons, whose membership list reads like a "Who's Who" of Newtonville.

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, May 18, 1888

The plans of the new wing for the Cottage Hospital have been drawn by Mr. Wentworth, and the builders are now preparing their estimate. Work will be begun as soon as possible after the contracts are awarded.

A. J. Macomber has opened a branch jewelry store on Watertown st., Nonantum, next to Kendall's dry goods store, but will still continue his business at his old stand on Elmwood st., where he will be a good portion of the time.

Charles Howard Montague, city editor of the Boston Globe, has leased a pretty villa at Newton Centre, which he may purchase some day—the villa—not Newton Centre, of course.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, May 19, 1893

The exercises of graduation connected with the 68th anniversary observances of the Newton Theological Institution took place in the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, on Thursday morning.

Watertown had quite a celebration last Saturday over the opening of the new electric street railway to Waltham, and at the Waltham end the company gave a spread with speeches from the Waltham and Watertown officials. The cars are now running regularly.

Hewett To Head Metropolitan Division Drive

Merritt A. Hewett, master at Milton Academy and vice-chairman of the Milton Committee on Public Safety, has been named by General Chairman Joseph T.

Walker, Jr., to head the Metropolitan Division, including Newton in the next Greater Boston United War Fund Campaign.

In anticipation of the early campaign which has been set for the pre-Thanksgiving period beginning November 8, Mr. Hewett has already taken over his volunteer duties at Fund headquarters, 261 Franklin st., Boston.

The Greater Boston United War Fund will be affiliated with the National War Fund now being organized by the President's War Relief Control Board to include every community in the country. This national fund with a nationwide campaign planned for the fall is an outgrowth of the first United War Fund formed in Greater Boston within a week after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The change from the January-February period of former years has been decided upon, Mr. Hewett explained, in order to give increased co-operation by spacing the three great national wartime campaigns—the Red Cross, the war bond drives and the National War Fund.

The coming November campaign throughout Greater Boston will include such accredited wartime appeals as the USO, United Nations Relief and War Prisoners Aid, together with the all-time needs of 235 health and social service agencies in the Greater Boston Community Fund, of which the Newton Community Chest, Inc., is a member.

out by the Sunday excursions of the land speculators on the Wellesley and Needham side of the river last Sunday. (Newton Upper Falls). It is good land, but its desirability as a residential location is not enhanced by the fact that there are no public schools, water, gas, electric lights, fire protection or sanitary conveniences available for their use within 4 or 5 miles. The land is close to Newton, but Newton does not furnish either Wellesley or Needham with these conveniences.

25 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, May 17, 1918

Elaborate plans are being made for a thorough canvass of the entire city by an energetic committee in the Red Cross drive.

Sergt. William O. Wellman, who has gained much fame as an aviator in the French army, was tendered a reception in Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands. The affair was under the auspices of the Men's League of the Congregational Church and the Men's Club of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Sergt. Wellman gave an intensely interesting talk of some of his experiences. Music was furnished by members of the Highland Glee Club.

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Hunnewell Club. Officers elected were: President, William F. Garcelon; vice president, Clarence C. Smith; secretary, Mason H. Stone, treasurer, A. W. B. Huff; directors, Loren D. Towle, E. W. Hodgson and Dr. L. H. Naylor.

How to prolong the life of your washer

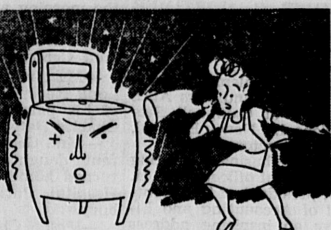

Don't overload washer. Overloading the machine may strain both mechanism and motor and can very easily damage your clothes. The clothes should be able to move and turn freely in the water.

Handle your cord with care. Pull the plug, not the cord, and, above all, don't let the cord get damp. When you push plug in, be sure the switch is "OFF" and all controls are in neutral.

Clean washer after using. When you are through with the machine, remove soap suds or lint from tub, agitator or suction cups and wipe dry. Standing water can rust, stain and rot parts.

Investigate strange noises. If you hear any unfamiliar noise in your machine, it's a good idea to call an authorized serviceman immediately. It may mean a worn or loose part that can cause damage.

Many Newton Citizens Serving At Boston Information Center

Many of the citizens of Newton are serving with the Air Corps as civilians. They are real unsung heroes for the nature of their work at the Boston Information Center is closely guarded in military secrecy and the location itself is hidden away from the prying eyes of the enemy. Even their friends are not aware of the vital importance of the work they are doing in the defense of New England homes and industries, yet they are giving up a part of their time each week to chart the movement of aircraft on huge colored maps for the benefit of Army and Navy officials.

NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

Residents, visitors, and patients in the Newton Hospital will find it no problem to secure small conveniences, fountain drinks, between-meal "snacks," and even meals, when the newest project of the Newton Hospital Aid Association takes final shape as a coffee shop, soda fountain, and gift shop. The board of directors of the Association, in regular monthly session on May 11, voted to begin preparations for carrying out this plan at an early date, with the hope of completing the installation some time this coming summer.

The spirit of the discussion on that day gave ample proof that the officers and directors of this organization possess the courage, the energy, and the enthusiasm required for such an undertaking. After Mrs. Charles B. Floyd, the president, had presented the subject briefly, Mrs. Walter McGill, clerk of the board, gave a detailed report of exhaustive inquiries into its various problems, which she, personally, with the backing of the other officers, had conducted during the past months. Great inspiration had been derived from the success of a similar venture at the Salem Hospital, which had been launched less than two years ago under the guidance of Mrs. E. P. Millsap. That work had been the subject of an interesting account by Mrs. Millsap at one of the Newton Association's winter meetings, and she had returned to be present at the day meeting to answer questions. Mr. Clarence King of H. P. Hood and Company, whose oversight of similar installations connected with several large army camps enabled him to draw on a wide experience, was the chief speaker. Mr. King conducted a training school for soda fountain attendants at the Hood plant in Somerville, and he offered free instruction to all volunteers for this work in the projected coffee shop.

His talk was filled with helpful and timely advice. A report for the Hospital Aid Bridge committee, concerning their bridge and fashion show on May 4th was given by Mrs. Carlos T. Pierce. Incomplete returns showed a balance which is expected to reach $700.

Beano Banned

Thousands of words could be written about the Beano debacle in this state. Right now, however, it will suffice to point out a few of the major features of the campaign which both sides conducted.

As I view the situation, the opponents of Beano stressed chiefly the admitted fact that racketeers had definitely taken over the gambling game in a great many cities and towns. Emphasis was placed on the crass nerve of the Beano gang in moving in on Malden and calmly trying to buy up the local government. That was pretty raw, to put it mildly. Malden, in case you have forgotten, is where former Governor Alvan T. Fuller comes from. It is also part of Middlesex County, where the District Attorney is none other than Robert F. Bradford, a potential future Governor of Massachusetts. Most fair-minded persons were willing to concede that in many instances the promoters of Beano ran off with the lion's share of the profits and condescended to give only a paltry sum to the charities which were supposed to be the chief beneficiaries. One of the hitches in the elimination of this rotten racket was the unwillingness of many fraternal organizations, Legion posts and churches to assist in abolishing the game. The reason was obvious. These organizations all benefited from the playing of the game and were enabled to pick up some easy money to defray their legitimate cost of operation. Hence, they chose to wink at some of the evils of Beano and to praise the conduct of the game in their particular neighborhood. As a matter of fact, I am willing to admit that in some instances, but NOT a great many, Beano may have been conducted fairly decently. In the main, however, it is a demoralizing pastime, taking up a vast amount of time which might well be devoted to the prosecution of the war or to the improvement of the average community. Also, it unquestionably resulted in hardship for countless families which could ill afford the luxury of daily or weekly gambling.

Turn, now, to the rather strange behavior of our law-making bodies on Beacon Hill. It took the Senate some two weeks extra to get up enough courage to tackle the Beano problem, following the action of the House in passing the repeal bill. That was bad enough, but that wasn't all. The Republicans control both branches of the legislature. Their control of the Senate is particularly tight. Mrs. Ernest P. Rallsback of Foster st., has been elected to the nominating committee of the Women's City Club of Boston.

—Group Six from the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist Church met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. William Mark, 983 Washington st., Tuesday evening.

—Allen R. Barrow, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Allen R. Barrow of Highland st., will graduate from Wilbraham Academy on May 30. While at the Academy Barrow has maintained a high scholastic average, and has been active in sports. Last year he was a finalist in the Junior Declamation Contest. His older brother, Roger, prepared for Harvard at Wilbraham graduating the year before his brother's entrance.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. Alan Chesbro are parents of twins, Nancy Gardner Chesbro and Gordon Gould Chesbro, born May 10 in the Massachusetts Women's Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner S. Gould of Highland st., are the maternal grandparents.

—A comprehensive exhibit of peacetime watercolors by Lt. Dwight Shepler, combat artist and deck officer in the U. S. Navy, is being shown in the Doll & Richard galleries.

—Miss Elizabeth Beaman, aged 95, residing at Newton, and sister of the late Mrs. John Daboll of 44 Walker st., died May 13.

—Edmund R. Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Conley of 44 Harrington st., has been promoted from corporal to sergeant in the Signal Corps where he enlisted in January, 1942. He received his basic training at Bradford Field, Chicago; Rapid City, S. D.; and Camp Dix, N. J. Last November he arrived in Africa from England. Sgt. Conley was graduated from Newton High School in 1939.

—Dr. Carl S. Ell, president of Northeastern University, will give the commencement day address at the Vesper George School tomorrow morning.

—Mrs. William J. O'Halloran was a member of the reception committee for the May bridge of the Philomatheia Club in the Crystal Room of Hotel Kenmore on Wednesday.

—Miss Beatrice Nielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Nielson of Gay st., who is graduating from the Melrose Hospital next month, is home for a three week vacation.

—Second Lt. Earl J. Carleton of 76 Highland ave. has been promoted to 1st Lieutenant at Fort Sill, Okla., where he is attached to the tactics department of the Field Artillery School. He is the son of Mrs. E. J. Carleton.

Dudley Harmon Is Kiwanian Speaker

Mr. Dudley Harmon, Executive Vice-President of the New England Council, spoke to Newton Kiwanians last Tuesday on "New England, Its Present and Its Future." He outlined the fine record which New England was making as a whole in the war effort. He said that New England with 2 per cent of the area of the United States and 6.4 per cent of its population, was contributing greater than its proportionate share to the war production effort. Up to January, 1943, New England was undertaking to supply 10.9 per cent of all war contracts, 15.6 per cent of all shipbuilding contracts and 8.6 per cent of all aircraft production. He emphasized the special assistance that New England was able to render our Government in promptly getting started on war production. This was due to the various industrial plants located in New England and to the ready supply of skilled men. He said that we had a right as New Englanders to be proud of the people of New England and of the industrial leaders of New England, particularly in view of the fact that we in New England had almost completely financed this war production whereas in other sections of the country the major part of war production had so far been financed by the Government.

In spite of this grand record, a record which was practically leading the country, Mr. Harmon said that New England must be prepared to accomplish even greater things. In December, 1942, New England had 461,000 men in the armed services. By December, 1943 this must be increased to 760,000 men. In December, 1942, 1,268,000 individuals were engaged in war industry. By December, 1943 our increasingly important war industries would employ 1,471,000 people. In addition, New England farmers who must produce increased quantities of food will have to have an additional 239 workers. Mr. Harmon stressed the fuel supply situation of both coal and oil as being serious and as being problems that must require constant attention. A complete cut-off of the fuel supply would stop or handicap war production. Mr. Harmon said that he hoped for improved conditions by stating that it was a high type of patriotism to attempt to conserve food and essential material to the limit, and that those individuals who waste any of these articles were actually Hitler's little helpers. Mr. Harmon said that he sometimes felt discouraged because of the fact that many people did not seem to be conscious of the importance of winning this war and did not realize that it could have been lost. He was particularly contemptuous of those people who evade regulations set up by our Government to conserve material needed for war industries and sometimes bragged about how smart they were in evading these regulations.

Looking forward to the future, Mr. Harmon said that he felt that New England at the present time was one of the leading sections of the country in winning the war and that as time went on we would plan more and more for the future when the war had finally been won by the United Nations. He spoke of the fine work along this line being done by the National Committee for Economic Development in America. He said that this Committee, a non-profit organization, was actively trying to interest the nation's leading businessmen in planning the development of this country after the war. He emphasized the danger of any taxing situation or governmental regimentation which would kill individual initiative or free enterprise. Individual initiative and free enterprise have built America. They have been responsible for the fact that America today is producing by far the largest share of material necessary to win the war against the Axis. Without the material benefits of American initiative and free enterprise, there is little doubt that the Axis would win this war. It is just as important, Mr. Harmon said, when the war is over to continue building free and unhindered the America which will take a leading place in the world of tomorrow.

NEWTON DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

That Board Members of the Newton District Nursing Association have a real responsibility to acquaint themselves with the importance of Public Health Nursing, is the firm belief of Miss Evelyn Davis, formerly of the executive committee of the National Organization of Public Health Nursing and now regional director of volunteer service of the O. C. D. Those women present at the May meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association, held at headquarters, learned many interesting facts regarding the organization of the O. C. D. (Office of Civilian Defense). However, the importance of health instruction, the protection of mothers and children, problems of the coming generation and how to face them, were of primary interest.

The vital need of the Visiting Nursing Association is one hundred times greater now than ever before. The Visiting Nurse is assisting the professional worker, is training volunteers, is giving bedside nursing, due to crowding of hospitals, and these fine, unselfish women need the backing of their board members. Miss Davis explained how the O. C. D. tied up with the local associations and stressed the fact that the O. C. D. is only as strong as the local organizations make it. Here in Newton, Public Health Nurses are on call in time of need, through the Evacuation Officer of the O. C. D., Dr. Ernest Morris of the Health Department.

Miss Nelson, executive director of the Association, reported that the work still was increasing and that the nurses were handling all the extra duty admirably. The Medical Advisory Committee was glad to report that it is now possible to administer tetanus vaccine at the Well-Baby Conferences to those babies whose mothers want this service and can afford it.

A urological unit has been installed equipped with a hydraulic type cystoscopic table for high speed radiograph of the kidneys and bladder.

For the proper viewing and diagnosis of X-ray films, a separate Interpretation Room has been arranged, with fluorescent view boxes where the radiologist can carefully examine the films while dictating his findings.

In a joint statement, Mr. Clifford H. Walker, President of the Trustees, Mr. Gerhard Hartman, Director of the Hospital, and Dr. Charles R. Leibman, Radiologist, said, "We are indeed fortunate and proud in making these facilities available to persons served by the Newton Hospital, because the installation represents the newest and most modern equipment possible, incorporating features for therapy and radiographic work never before available at Newton Hospital. A great many advances have been made in X-ray technique in the last few years, and we felt that the Newton Hospital owed it to the persons in its community to make these improvements available to the doctors on its staff."

Contour Yields More

Studies of wheat yields show that the grain drilled on the contour produces about three to five bushels more per acre than wheat planted in the ordinary way.

Postal Numerals Now In Use Here

The popular acceptance of the Numeral System by postal patrons in the Boston Postal District has been evidenced by the hundreds of calls received at the various Stations and Branches of the Boston Postal District for assigned numerals, both for residences and for local stores. More than 600 calls were received at the Numeral System Headquarters established in Room 407 of the Federal Building, Boston 9, during the first day of operation of this Numeral System. These calls came from heavy mailers including Department Stores, Banks, Insurance Companies, Hotels, etc.

Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly made it clear to all patrons that with the constant turnover of postal employees made necessary by the induction of thousands of trained postal men into the armed forces, it has been essential to utilize the services of men with little or no previous postoffice experience. The complicated distribution of mail matter could not be quickly, safely and accurately performed by these inexperienced employees in the manner which the public have learned to expect. Faced with conditions as are now thrust upon the postoffice, continued Postmaster Connelly, as with every other large enterprise, it has become necessary to place in operation a system that can be quickly learned by new postal personnel. We have in the Boston Postal District many thousands of streets, avenues and other local designations. In many instances the name of a given street may be found duplicated in as many as ten of the 25 cities and towns of the Boston Postal District. Even in the Boston downtown area we have many duplications of streets. It can be easily understood how inexperienced clerks handling the greatest volume of mail in history, to a large extent, might mislead a letter to the wrong office. The use of the proper numeral would completely overcome such a possibility since the correct delivery office would be recognized by the number affixed after the name of city or town.

Postmaster Connelly urged all patrons who have already received their number to include it on all correspondence of printed matter entered in the mails as part of their return address and to notify all correspondents so that future mail will contain this number in the address. He particularly invited the business establishments to ascertain their assigned office numeral. Residents in the outlying districts may consult with their local postal officials. Concerns in the downtown area may secure their proper postal numeral by calling LIB 5600—Ext. 42.

Mr. Dana said that the reduction in bus service in accordance with plans prepared weeks ago at the direction of the Office of Defense Transportation is effected in the only practical way possible, by readjusting the present schedules and dropping out bus trips on those schedules.

Mr. Dana stated that in working out the reduction, the railway tried to reduce the service where it will result in the least inconvenience to the riders. "No bus line will be wholly discontinued," he said. "Where a section is served in part by bus line and in part by street car lines the larger reductions in bus service will be effected. As much bus service will be operated as is possible in those sections which are wholly dependent on bus transportation."

Mr. Dana urged all riders who could to use rail lines in preference to car lines where and whenever possible. "The curtailment of bus service which becomes necessary by order of a Governmental authority will result in a measure of overcrowding in buses which we regret. The utmost co-operation will be necessary on the part of the riders in order to facilitate the operation of the system under present trying conditions. Whenever necessary, we urge riders not to overcrowd buses but to wait for a less crowded one. Allow a little more time for your bus trip."

The curtailed service will result in a reduction of 45,000 miles of bus service weekly. Translated into gallons of gasoline, the reduction in service will save approximately 15,000 gallons of gasoline weekly. Bus mileage operated in April averaged about 225,000 miles weekly. The "EI" owns 596 buses.

Naval Aviation Cadet Walter E. Tobin, son of Mrs. Catherine Tobin, of 163 Jackson rd., Newton, Mass., has successfully completed the intensive 11 weeks' course at the U. S. "EI" Service Is Cut 20 Percent

Conforming with a directive from the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington, the Boston Elevated Railway, effective last Tuesday morning, reduced service on all its bus lines, according to announcement from Edward Dana, president and general manager of the railway. The reduction in bus service amounts to about 45,000 bus miles weekly, or 20 per cent of the total bus miles operated by the "EI".

Mr. Dana said that the reduction in bus service in accordance with plans prepared weeks ago at the direction of the Office of Defense Transportation is effected in the only practical way possible, by readjusting the present schedules and dropping out bus trips on those schedules.

The next Canning Demonstrations in Newton will be held June 3rd, at 10 o'clock a. m. at the Newtonville Central Congregational Church, Walnut st., and at 2 o'clock p. m. at the Stearns School, Jaspet st. These demonstrations are being given by representatives from the Extension Service Massachusetts State College, Amherst.

What utensil is necessary for canning? A 1943 model canner is ANY utensil that is deep enough to cover the jars with one inch of water and which will not melt or leak over a fire. A rack for the bottom may be made of anything that will keep the jars from full contact with the bottom of the utensil. A cover for the utensil is not used, but essential, but it does help to conserve on fuel.

Learn to recognize Poison Ivy by its compound leaf of three leaflets, its greenish white bloom LATE in the Spring and its waxy smoke from burning. Poison Ivy will carry the poison and may cause serious injury.

Have a first aid kit handy. Thorns and brambles may cause minor wounds which sometimes lead to infections if an antiseptic is not used immediately. Watch for pieces of glass, tin, rusty nails, etc., in the soil which you are handling.

Civilian Defense Now Two Years Old

Two years ago, on May 27, 1941, the Newton Defense meeting was held at the High School auditorium. Newton Civilian Defense at that time consisted of one small Committee and an awareness that potential dangers must be recognized and defense set up.

How well the problem has been met by Newton citizens is evidenced by the fact that 6072 men and 4187 women, 10,259 citizens all told, are enrolled and trained to meet the emergency of enemy action if we are attacked. Apart from the professional staff of three the entire organization is comprised of volunteers serving without compensation.

The organization is as follows: Executive committee and Division heads—31 men, 5 women. Phone operators—78 women. Radio operators—20 men. Map Plotters—6 men. Messengers—520 (Boys). Air Raid Wardens—4264 men, 2136 women.

Auxiliary Firemen—157 men. Auxiliary Police—381 men. Rescue Squad—140 men. Demolition Squad—140 men. Gas and Decontamination Squad—40 men.

Road Repair Crew—145 men. Fire Watchers—50 men. Black Out Officers—45 men. Bomb Reconnaissance Squad—22 men.

Training Officers—14 men. Testing Officers—10 men. Duty Watch—Report Center—12 men, 100 women.

Medical Staff—50 doctors, 57 nurses and nurses' aides. First Aid—55 men, 84 women. Ambulance Drivers—45 women. Canteen Workers—176 women. War Service Division—1506 women.

These men and women for months, through rain and snow, cold weather and summer heat, have attended instructions and drills and training exercises, have responded to late night and early morning alerts. They have shown determination to be ready for any emergency in the event of enemy action and may be relied on to continue their patriotic services as long as they are needed.

GREATER BOSTON'S MOST REASONABLE FLORIST

CHARLES D. KEPNER

On Sunday evening, April 25, there left quietly for that bourne from which no traveler returns, a citizen of Newton, who had contributed much to the religious culture of our city. For forty years and more Mr. Kepner had been an active and moving spirit in the important work of the Newton
Young Men's Christian Association.
He was interested in all branches of the work but especially in the boys' work. He was chairman of this committee for thirty years and was instrumental in securing the fine camp site in East Brookfield and in developing the summer camp there so that it has become one of the outstanding camps of its kind in New England.

Mr. Kepner was also a faithful and efficient worker in the Eliot Church in Newton. In the work of the Y. M. C. A. Committee of the two states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island he was an active and helpful member. In the business world of Boston he was also well known, for he had risen from office boy to become president of the well-known leather firm of C. D. Kepner & Co.

He was evangelical in his nature and for many years had served faithfully as treasurer of the Evangelistic Association of New England of which Allan Emery has so long been the faithful and able leader.

Mr. Kepner's home life was ideal. Mrs. Kepner has made a wonderful home maker and their three many sons grew to manhood in an atmosphere of Christian Culture. They are all graduates of Newton High School and of Williams College. Carl, the oldest, is in the Christ ministry, and Chase and Kenneth are associated with their father's business.

To those of us who were privileged to be neighbors of Mr. Kepner for many years, his kindly spirit and many neighborly courtesies will be greatly missed. However as Robert Browning writes of his military leader "Luria," who went his noble way and by the sincerity and purity of his life he gained many followers for his way of life.

"Keep but God's Model safe.
New Men will rise to take its mold."

A neighbor said to me the other day, "I propose to be more neigh-borly and considerate of others in emulation of the good man who has gone to his reward." The boys in this entire section of Newton and beyond knew him and loved him and were encouraged in his efforts to better living because of his kindly interest in them.

"To live in hearts we leave behind
Is not to die."

Proverbs Ch. 4, V. 18. But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day.

Mr. Kepner has entered that "perfect day" where all is made clear.

The selection of the best building site available was the next step and an exceedingly important one. After a thorough canvass of all possibilities, the old Newtonville Club lot was decided upon and an option on the land was secured. The Library Association selected this location because of its convenience to the Newton High School and to the entire community; because many hoped that it would limit for all time the further encroachment of business to the residential district on Walnut st., and, finally, because an attractive library building at this spot would make a fine addition to the civic center of the village.

The land was then owned by a man who had purchased it as a business speculation. After considerable negotiation, the owner agreed to sell for what he had paid, plus accumulated interest and taxes, which in all amounted to about $36,000. The campaign was immediately launched to raise $40,000 and the Newtonville Improvement Association pledged the first $500.

Quite correctly, the Library Association simply played the part of sponsor and business agent and made the campaign a general community affair, independent of its own limited membership. That of the Improvement Association. It is safe to say that no army of canvassers ever took the field in Newtonville with better spirit than did those two hundred odd workers who labored that day in June 1936, to raise that $40,000. At the close of the day, however, when the reports were in, pledges for only $16,000 had been secured.

A post mortem on that campaign at this date would be worse than useless, except to point out three facts which show that the partial failure of the campaign in no way reflects on the generosity of the people of the community. The most important reason for the partial failure, undoubtedly, was the time of year, late June. Many families of means had already left for their summer homes. A lesser factor, but none the less important, was lack of understanding as to why the Library Association had chosen such an expensive site. The excellent and attractive publicity material distributed failed to convince many who should have been substantial givers to the fund. The third fact which exonerates the community is that thirty thousand dollars was finally raised.

Following the partially successful drive to finance the purchase of the library lot, George Whitfield Taylor, president of the Newtonville Library Association, and Fred Alexander, campaign chairman, disconcerted and urged effort to complete the fund, but continued personally the attempt to raise the money. By the summer of 1938 they brought the sum available for the lot purchase to $30,000 and the property was turned over to the city.

Had the seeming "intervention of the gods" not guided affairs at this stage, the library lot for many years to come might still have been used as a clandestine parking space. Up to this time the city had never assumed responsibility for the erection of branch library buildings. As soon as the Library Association had carried its money-raising efforts as far as it could, a special committee of the Association approached the Mayor and urged him to use his official influence to bring about the erection of the library building by the city, assisted by a federal grant. They strongly predicated their plea on the ground that a well-equipped library erected on this site would become a valuable adjunct to the high school for reference work. Be it to the everlasting credit of Mayor Ned Childs that he had the vision and appreciation of the importance of library work to break precedent and make the recommendation which carried with the Board of Aldermen and with the Public Works Administration.

Another crisis immediately developed which should reflect high credit upon the goddess Hera. The acceptance of the project by the PWA depended upon plans being presented in time for work to be started in the fall under an appropriation then available. This left no time for the usual competition of architects plans, but by good fortune the problem worked out all right. As soon as city librarian Julius Lucht had become convinced that the Newtonville Library building would be erected with the approval of the Board of Library Trustees, he had selected E. Donald Robb of Newtonville as an architect and had prepared preliminary plans. These plans were accepted by the city and by the PWA and contracts were let in record time. Officers of the Library Association and certain other citizens of Newtonville were allowed to see the plans. Suggestions for several minor changes were made and accepted by those in authority. The city appropriation amounted to $12,200, 45 per cent. Newton had been refused by a check from the federal treasury. With the exception of a balance of $6,000 on the lot, the appropriation was all spent on the building, its furnishings, and the development of the grounds.

The cornerstone of the building was laid March 18, 1939, by John R. Prescott who had contributed the entire proceeds from the sale of his delightful booklet, "Suburban Living at Its Best," to the fund for the purchase of the lot. The fact that the $12,200 thus contributed was the largest amount given by any one individual to the fund was not only an eloquent epitome of the life of the fine citizen who has recently passed to his reward, but was also a revealing indication that Newtonville is not a community of great wealth.

At the dedication exercises held the evening of December first, 1939, four hundred people filled the main floor of the library. Frederick Melcher of New Haven, a former Newton resident, and now in the administration of the library system in his own city, gave the address. Robert Frost, the New England poet whose poem, "The Mending Wall," is symbolized in the Connick medallion ornamenting the reading room, read a poem from his poems. Mayor Edwin O. Childs presided and City Librarian Lucht turned the keys of the building over to Miss Peters, the librarian, to keep the library open from nine to nine during the winter and spring months and according to established city schedule during the summer months.

For the benefit of record and for those who may not yet have had the opportunity to visit the new library, it may be said that, considering the risks and the erection of buildings under federal supervision and the present high cost of construction, the results from the standpoints of utility and of interior elegance are better than could reasonably have been expected. The structure is a modified colonial style. It is built of red brick relieved by touches of wood, stone and steel. The grounds have been tastefully laid out, and growing shrubbery already begins to soften the lines of the front elevation.

On entering the building and facing the service desk under the lofty light tower, supported by eight wood-faced Doric columns, which frame the approaches to the reading rooms on either side, one receives the impression of well-proportioned space. The finish, window draperies, and chandeliers provide splashes of color and artistry and give the impression of dignified life. The south wing is neat and well furnished and the community room under the north wing, which seats 100 people, has been used by thirty community organizations and committees during the first ten months which it has been open.

In its "A. L. A. Bulletin" of March, 1938, the American Library Association published the story of how the building was secured as an encouragement to other communities struggling with the problem of better library housing. A finely illustrated article by Julius Lucht, city librarian, published in the April 1940 number of the Library Journal gave an excellent description of the Newtonville Library and its furnishings. Newtonville is now on the map to the 15,000 librarians and library trustees of the country.

As soon as the building lot was turned over to the city and the execution of the building became assured, the Newtonville Library Association closed its books and as an organization took no part in the public exercises at the laying of the cornerstone nor at the dedication exercises. There is no indication that the Association will ever reorganize as a "friends of the library" society, as the American Library Association would have suggested in its proposal.

As stated above and in other ways, the new building has enabled the library to greatly broaden and increase its service to the community. Under the management of Miss Peters, the librarian, there has been a continuous series of painting exhibits by local artists and of hobby and educational exhibits by local collectors. The Newtonville Garden Club has developed an attractive display of annuals and perennials back of the building on Highland ave., which is already a delight to the eye.

Newtonville now has a library building and library work in progress of which the community and city may well be proud, but plenty of projects still remain for any and all organizations which may arise to interest themselves in the intellectual and cul-

by Ted Friend

TEN YEARS AGO THIS MONTH a howling mob of Berliners gathered by the light of the moon to participate in a book-burning episode which, unfortunately for the Reich, was publicized the free world over.

By that act Germany not only divorced itself from the best and most decent in world thought but it also stamped itself as a barbaric gang of hoodlums whose concepts of literature and art were as debased as were its codes of morality and law.

In the face of the promises for which it sold out to fascism ten years ago what actually did the German people gain?

It gained a war. It gained a regimented economic and social order. It gained the destruction of free institutions, including its religious associations and its labor unions. It gained a reputation for cruelty, degeneracy, and lawlessness. It gained bombed cities; millions of dead, wounded and captured; a reduced standard of living. Above all it gained the hatred and contempt of the civilized world.

Thus can a chain of events ensue from a simple but revealing book-burning ceremony.

A people that tolerates little acts of terrorism lays the foundation for more hideous acts of terrorism to follow.

And such a people also lays the foundation for the inevitable acts of retribution which must follow the acts of terror.

ALL IS NOT WELL in Axis circles! The Germans and the Italians are having trouble with each other. Both are having trouble with the Bulgarians. And the Finns are having trouble with the Germans. To round out the picture the Rumanians are at swords-points with the Bulgarians!

Bitterness between the Germans and the Italians stems from the heroic sacrifice of Italians by the Germans in the long Battle of Africa. In repayment for what it regards as German treachery in using Italian troops to screen German withdrawals, Italy is cutting down on food exports to Germany. Another source of friction is the Bulgarian refusal to declare war on Russia. Finland is locked in contention with Germany because of Nazism's treatment of non-Aryan Finns, who are among the country's most valuable citizens. And the Bulgarians and Rumanians are at each others' throats because each covets the other's territory!

WITHOUT WHITEWASHING Russia's act of bad faith toward the Polish people, by its killing of Polish Labor Leaders, and after, there is a considerable case against the Polish overlords, whose past records in nationhood are not much better than those of Germany's. It must not be forgotten that Poland committed an outrage and an act of aggression against Lithuania prior to Munich and that she cashed-in on Munich itself when she helped in the disgraceful dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

The history of Poland is that it has, time out of mind, permitted its worst feudal-military classes to govern its destiny. Cruel, arrogant and ignorant, the Polish equivalent of the German Junkers kept the people in a state of impoverished semi-subjection for centuries past.

Poland's will to independence has been strong but her lack of regard for the basic tenets of democracy, as evidenced by the all but dictatorial regime installed by even its honored Pilsudski, is evidence that it has much to do before it is able to enter the court of nations with clean democratic hands.

PRECISELY AT THIS SPLIT SECOND there are little coteries of German Junkers meeting in the Reich concerning themselves with the pressing problem of how to outfit the victors in the event that total defeat, in the African manner, comes crashing down upon Germany's head.

Such conferences, attended by the military aristocrats, the large land-owners and the industrialists, took place just prior to the end of the last war. Most certainly much the same sort of scheming is going on now.

It was one of the early boasts of the German military that it could not win world conquest if it lost the world war they would do it in three, and they pointed to the Three Punive Wars as the obvious pattern. First job of the Germans, if defeat appears to be just around the corner, will be to attempt to evade as much of the responsibilities of the imposed peace terms as possible. The second objective will be to go "underground" with as much of its military organization intact as it can. Every deceit possible, from simple whining to artificial collapse, will be invoked to cut down on the effectiveness of Allied curtailment of German resources of aggression. To this end new political parties, manned by presumed humanitarian leaders, will be contrived. German industry will appear contrite in the hope that it will be more or less overlooked on the day of retribution. Followers of fascism will appear to have a change of heart. There will be a surface effort to restore the dignity and property of persecuted classes. Endless evidence will be offered that the German people are really good people who, at last, may be expected to walk in the straight and narrow path of their national life.

Meanwhile the Junker minds will set plans for another and third war of revenge and conquest. A new ideology of terror will be formed. A new skeleton army will be convoked. New secret arms industries, disguised as baby carriage and similar type of factories, will be developed. A new economy attuned to be the next war will be evolved. And finally a new date—"der tag"—will be set.

The plans, in true German deceit, are unquestionably being worked out now.

There is a remote possibility, of course, that the Germans may actually succeed in putting it over on the democracies again. But if Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek are on hand to write the peace terms, the odds are all against it.

INSIDE STRAIGHT. In North Africa, Italian and Nazi prisoners are confined to separate quarters because of friction between them. . . . Canada has begun formulation of plans for the demobilization and rehabilitation of soldiers after the war. . . . Premier Tojo is slated to be replaced by Admiral Toyoda, who has a reputation of popularity with the U. S. State Department and American businessmen. . . . Some 200,000 Canadian soldiers are being trained in England as the spearhead of the coming invasion of the continent. . . . War or no war, the Japanese baseball season is on in full swing.

POLITICS

WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Cocoonut Grove Disaster

Maybe I'm wrong, but it seems to me that the public should be reminded about Cocoonut Grove again and again. Too little appears in the Boston papers. When there is some development of importance, it is frequently tucked away on an inside page. Why? Isn't it vastly more important than the fact that dear Rita Hayworth is swapping husbands in typical Hollywood fashion and allowing the brilliant but irresponsible Orson Welles to carry on where Victor Mature left off? I think so.

Well, I checked up the other day. It bothered me to note that a flock of bills dealing with the Cocoonut Grove situation were still kicking around the Legislature, UNREPORTED. Many of them had been officially heard way back last January; others were heard in February. And yet, the Legislative Bulletin, published at frequent intervals during the legislative sessions, indicated that final action had NOT YET been taken. That was on May 10. A phone call to one of our members of the House revealed the fact that all these bills were so complicated and far-reaching that the members of the committees in charge were working practically night and day and were going into the sessions of the Legislature only to answer important roll-calls. That made me feel a little better, but I still cannot understand why a decision cannot be reached more promptly on such a problem as the abolition of revolving-doors in places of public entertainment. When it comes to the question of a wholesale revision of all of Boston's building laws, it is obvious to any fair-minded person that satisfactory decisions cannot be made with undue speed.

That's all on this topic right now, but I promise my readers that I will try to keep this vital matter in the foreground until such time as final decisions have been reached by our august Legislature.

Robert T. Bushnell

I cannot help wondering if Thomas E. Dewey of New York, present Governor and former District Attorney, was beset by the same tremendous obstacles and tribulations as our own fighting Attorney General, Robert T. Bushnell. Right here, let me ask some of Bushnell's critics — and they are, unfortunately, many — how they would like it if his office had been filled during the past two and a half years by some typical timid, mediocre lawyer whose chief anxiety seemed to be to dodge all important issues, play safe on everything and spend the bulk of his time fixing up his own political fences? Perhaps you have forgotten even the names of the men who have held this high and vitally-important office during the past seventeen years. Here they are: Arthur K. Reading, who resigned under fire; Joseph E. Warner, whose chief specialty was flag-waving speeches and Paul A. Dever, who devoted much of his time to embarrassing a Republican Governor and working at cross-purposes with him. Can any of my readers name a single outstanding achievement of any of these gentlemen?

Now consider Bushnell for a moment. He is on his toes every day and every hour of each day. He goes out to Texas and salvages a huge sum of money for the Commonwealth. In these days, that means a lot. Bushnell gets Coakley impeached; a terrific job and a dangerous one. Incidentally, he kept his head throughout, thus confusing his ardent critics. Then he jumped into the Cocoonut Grove mess and got action, despite obstacles placed in his path with disgusting frequency, sometimes by people who should have been ashamed of themselves for giving aid and comfort to the Attorney General's enemies. Most of these enemies, incidentally, are a discredited credit to Bushnell. On top of that, he got after the whole racketeering situation in Metropolitan Boston and dared to strike as high up as the powerful Police Commissioner. Name me a single Attorney General, apart from the late J. Weston Allen, who would have had the intestinal fortitude to do that. No, you can't do. Here in order that my readers may not accuse me of blind prejudice, let me say that I am fully aware of many of Bushnell's faults. All men of his type, who fear neither man nor devil, invariably have weak spots in their armor. Theodore Roosevelt, for example, had many number of faults. Some of them were quite important and led to justifiable criticism by friend and foe alike. But is it not true that a tremendous percentage of Americans thank God that such a man lived and served as our President? I'll gamble right now that Massachusetts will accord Bob Bushnell a substantial place in its political Hall of Fame long after he has passed away. His impetuous manner and conduct, his occasional lack of sound judgment and his refusal to "Play the game" according to normal political routine or to say "Hush-Hush" when some of the big-shots want to cover up a nasty scandal, — all these things will fall into their proper perspective as time marches on.

Finally, take the charge that Bushnell is simply playing politics and trying to advance himself to the Governor's chair. How silly. Would he dare to cross swords with one of the most popular Governors this state has ever had if he were just playing politics? How could such action possibly help him? No. If he were playing politics he would be very soft-spoken and conservative in all his dealings with Governor Saltonstall. The Governor is far more powerful than Robert T. Bushnell. Of course, he is a gentleman and a sportsman and there is no danger that he would dynamite Bushnell's legitimate ambitions. However, the Governor has many powerful friends who would not hesitate a minute to "give Bushnell the business". As a matter of fact, it occurs to me that this is precisely what may have been going on during the past few months.

I realize that this is a rather delicate subject and that my words may be misconstrued. However, some of these things require saying, and there do not seem to be a multitude of writers who care to risk their journalistic necks.

Washington — Reports from Moscow say that the Russians feel confident that the United Nations success in Tunisia will lead to the opening of a second front in Europe this summer. Competent observers over here point out that the establishment of a successful second front on the Continent depends on the Russians themselves. If the Reds are able to hold the 3,000,000 Nazi troops—which rumors from inside Germany claim Hitler has amassed for a new drive in Russia—they will have made the best possible contribution to the opening of the new front. But if, on the other hand, the Germans were to achieve a deadlock in Russia and thereby liberate a considerable part of their forces on the Eastern front, the prospects of a strong drive on Europe by the Allies would be greatly lessened.

Joseph Stalin, noted for his cool realism, must be fully aware of this situation. The Russians know how to handle the Germans in winter and if they can make good this summer—and it seems probable that they will—we will have the way opened for a real second front this year.

In the sustained tragedy of a world war, a bit of comic opera injected from time to time is regarded by most people. In the past weeks, the doings of the bombastic John (Kaplan) Monroe in his big red house on R st. have handed out a lot of laughs to the town. This episode proves once again that no one, no matter how high he may have climbed the ladder of political success, ever achieves complete wisdom or is ever entirely free of hay behind the ears—as for instance, the hoary trick attributed to the master of the big red house, who while he was entertaining some Washington bigwigs at dinner had a servant notify him that the White House was calling. That old gag is a variation of the Texas oil well promoter's method of getting a suit to buy stock by having a confederate phone in an offer to "buy up" the entire issue.

Stephenson, who was top man of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana twenty years ago, used another version of the gold brick game to impress visitors. He would call a secretary and order him: "Get me the White House on the phone." Then he'd raise "cain" with the President, telling him what he, Stephenson, wanted to be done on matters of national importance. He would then hand the entire conversation was carried on a house phone, with a stooge at the other end of the wire.

It's what drama and political scholars call the "comic relief."

Il Duce made a brief talk to Romans from his former bluster-balcony, now his weeping-gallery overlooking the Palazzo Venezia. He was in a nostalgic mood, for it was the seventh anniversary of his speech from the same balcony announcing the fall of Ethiopia and the birth of the Italian Empire.

Mussolini used a curious figure of speech. "Millions and millions of Italians," he said, "suffer from an indefinable malady that one calls the 'African illness'." At first glance this might have seemed to mean that his troops in Tunisia were feeling faint, but that was not his point. "For a cure there is only one method. To

WALTER PIERCE REPORTS: Elmer Davis may be compelled to make certain drastic changes in his administration shortly. Top-ranking officials are beginning to be annoyed by the O. W. I.'s demands that it censor all official information released by its departments. . . . The American people are prepared to have part of their army remain overseas for several years after the war, if this is necessary to establish peace. Three out of every four persons—exactly 75 per cent—express willingness to support this proposal according to a recent nation-wide survey. . . . Gerald L. K. Smith, Detroit rabble-rouser and long time friend of Father Charles E. Coughlin, announces that he is in the "front" of a nationwide tour in the interest of the America First Party." But Smith hopes that his party won't be necessary—it won't be, he says, if the Republican presidential nomination falls to Wheeler or Nye. . . . William Kullgren, one of the 33 persons now under indictment for sedition, has sent out the April, 1943, issue of his newspaper, "America Speaks." This paper reprints six articles from the Washington Times-Herald, Eleanor Roosevelt's newspaper, the New York Times, and the Washington Post. Incidentally, Kullgren is predicting that, by the end of 1943, "the seats of the mighty all over the world will be shaken," that there soon will be a "true world affairs," and that the latter war will break out more bloody than ever—this time "with the wolf in sheep's clothing revealed at last as the aggressor nation; I speak of bloody Russia. . . . Long-view political pulse-feeling note the following: Fourth term will not be asked for by some commentators would have you believe. . . . Vice President Wallace will give way to Sam Rayburn as F. D. R.'s running mate. . . . Wendell Willkie to be forced on G. O. P. because of his demonstrated vote-getting ability, with National Commander of American Legion Roane Waring as No. 2 man. . . . Possible Democratic dark horse is rubber czar William N. Jeffers—most popular war administrator today; because of popular liking for men who get things done. . . . Another movement likely to peter out is coalitionist demand for MacArthur and Jim Farley. Jim is too smart to even permit it to get started. . . . Many things are in the air. . . . Where and when will we invade Europe? Most observers say this fall; perhaps sooner. "Where" is a secret known to only few top men, but your reporter's guess is that there will be many invasions and that the war will be confused by the enemy. Others believe largest efforts will occur in Northern France, the Low Countries and the Balkans—but it's anybody's guess. . . . On what progress Russia makes this summer will depend the duration of the war. . . . But this depends on YOU and ME: When we take a day off, quit early to wash up, walk away from the machine that turns out the material needed by our boys, some American in a far-off place will die because what you and I could have made wasn't there.

Kiwanis Activities

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club last Tuesday noon were introduced to the "Seventh Column" as presented by Mr. George Potter, Assistant Vice President and Claims Manager of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. Mr. Potter was introduced by Mr. Ben Louis, Chairman of the Program Committee, and he in turn proceeded to introduce Mr. William Pollman, who showed some slide pictures accompanied by sound recording, which showed the devastating effects of the "Seventh Column" in America. The pictures emphasized the fact that man and his machines have conquered nature but in the process man has created a Frankenstein which threatens to destroy him. Life in the old days was described as simple, whereas today with modern machines, it is both complicated and dangerous.

The "Seventh Column" is actually common carelessness which results in accidents at home, in automobiles, and in fires which kill and injure thousands each year. He said that accidents have increased to the point where they can no longer be laughed off and ignored. Four hundred and eighty million man days of work are lost each year through accidents and it might be that the tanks and planes that could be built with the man power lost through accidents might well be responsible for a turning point in the war. Mr. Potter also said that our complete defense in the army could be manned by the number of men killed last year by accidents and that twenty-five more divisions could be manned by those injured.

In speaking of fire losses, the loss for last year was equivalent in this country to thirty-one complete burnings of the city of Newton.

He spoke of the Fifth Column saboteurs, Sixth Column rumor spreaders and the "Seventh Column" carelessness. A new fire starts every forty-six seconds in America and an industrial worker is killed every forty-five minutes. Compared with the death and accident rates in Japan and Germany the United States ranks very high.

In 1942 the Newton Fire Department responded to 1158 calls. 1941 showed in America 178,000 accidents; in 1942 it jumped to 211,000. Last year 3,333,000 man days or 111 man years were lost in Massachusetts through accidents. Women workers, "green" help, and increased speed will tend to raise the accident rate. Mr. Potter made a plea to the Kiwanis to help smash the "Seventh Column." After his presentation safety publicity kits were distributed to the club members.

Next Tuesday Mr. Clarence Mease, General Secretary of the Newton Y.M.C.A., will speak to the club on "Our World Today and Tomorrow."

This particular year was one devoted to National Defense, Red Cross, Blood Plasma, Fund, Knitting for the Service, and other activities concerned with Defense.

In addition to these war time needs, Mrs. Brown said, that Lucy Jackson Chapter had maintained its other activities such as the Americanization program and its work with the accredited schools to whose support it contributes. The members were particularly interested in and grateful to Mrs. John W. Byers for her work in compiling into book form the record of Graves of Revolutionary Soldiers marked and recorded by the Chapter since its first meeting in 1896.

Mrs. Frank S. Larkin and Mrs. Walter S. Holden, vice-regents, reported the accomplishments of their offices. The members were delighted with the account of Mrs. J. Mrs. Frank Larkin reminded the members of the good work of the Citizenship committee thru the year.

The Chapter welcomed Mrs. George Fernald as a new member and greeted Mrs. Warburg a former member now residing in Dearborn, Michigan.

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL AID BENEFIT SHOP

The Executive Staff of the Benefit Shop, an auxiliary of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, held their Annual meeting on Tuesday morning, May 18 at the Berkley in Wellesley.

Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy presided and after reports by the secretary, Miss Ethel Woodberry and the treasurer, Miss Maida M. Flanders, had been read, she called on Mrs. Francis H. Williams, business manager for the shop which is located at 795 Washington st., Newtonville. Mrs. Williams particularly emphasized the hearty cooperation of the village chairmen which make up this staff, and cited many incidents of a personal nature as proof. She told of the many calls constantly being received for certain articles. At the present time these include baby carriages and strollers, carpet sweepers, and always clothing for children and men.

Owing to the version which has been voiced by customers against wearing apparel which has been displayed in the shop window, there is a greater demand than ever for bric a brac to be used for this purpose, as the desirable articles are sold as soon as they appear. She urged that each member of the group contact any family known to be moving, as many times salable articles may be gained from them.

Following Mrs. Williams' report, Mrs. Eddy reminded the group that the shop was usually closed during the month of August and by vote it was decided that officially it should close from July 30th to the eighth of September.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read by Mrs. Raymond Perkins and the slate of officers for the last year was re-elected. Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy and Mrs. Ralph W. Conant will again serve as co-directors; Miss Ethel Woodberry as secretary; Mrs. Francis H. Williams as manager; Mrs. Raymond Perkins the contact member for collections by the hospital truck, and Mrs. Ernest F. Drew as press chairman. The treasurer, Miss Maida M. Flanders, is already treasurer of the larger organization, and serves this group automatically.

Luncheon followed and in addition to those listed above were other members of the staff including Mrs. Edward F. Stevens, the new chairman of the Wellesley group; Mrs. Dana M. Dutch of Waban; Mrs. Frank F. Hardy, West Newton; Mrs. Arthur M. Allen, Newton Centre; Miss Louise Sherman, Newtonville; Mrs. Mortimer M. Prescott, Mrs. Edgar S. Burkhardt and Mrs. Sterling N. Loveland of Newton; and Mrs. Ernest Cobb of Newton Upper Falls.

Miss Mary C. Sawyer and Mrs. Robert L. Studley of Wellesley, both members of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, joined the group for luncheon.
